Annual Shareholders' Meeting

Another Annual Shareholders' Meeting in the books! Based on the feedback from the virtual meeting and process from last year's Annual Meeting, we again hired the same two outside companies. One being Melissa Kovner from Douglas Elliman Property Management (DEPM), that specializes in setting up, conducting, and moderating the virtual meeting, and the second being Debbie Marks and Paula Waskover from Honest Ballot, that distributed the official notice of meeting, all associated meeting documents, and most importantly conducted the official voting process of new Board members. We were also happy to provide viewing in the lobby with the help of Board member David Baker and Resident Manager Daniel Djeljaj for shareholders that did not have access to an electronic device or just wanted to experience it with other fellow shareholders.

We are pleased to announce that 58.5% of the Coop was represented for a Quorum either virtually at the annual meeting on June 13, 2023, by online voting, or by proxy, which represents 115 Shareholders owning 22,952 shares of the Corporation.

The following shareholders, in alphabetical order, were elected by acclamation to serve on the Board of Directors for the 2023-2024 term: David Baker, Christopher Gembinski, Nancy Gross, Elizabeth Haynes, Jamie Li, Jon Medwick, and Charlie Starner.

Your Board wishes to thank everyone that attended the Annual Shareholders Meeting.

Got Insurance?

Although you are not legally required and also not required by the Corporation's Proprietary Lease to purchase NY homeowners insurance, many mortgage companies are requiring it as part of their finance agreements with home owners. The Corporation's and Condominium's insurance covers the building, commonly owned property, and liability insurance. But this building insurance does not cover losses and/

or damages as a result of individual incidents (i.e. water leaks, fire and smoke damage, etc.) to your apartment, neighboring apartments, and the building. These potential costs from losses and/or damages to you, neighboring apartments, and the building can be extensive. Your Board, DEPM, and Daniel Djeljaj strongly recommend you consider getting NY homeowners insurance if you don't have it already.

Got Leaks?

Please report any leaks immediately! Leaks may originate internally from your radiator or elsewhere, including a toilet, faucet or pipe. With the average cost of water being so high, timely identification of leaks is crucial. In addition, please report any water penetration issues occurring from the exterior of the building including windows, doors, lintels, terraces, etc. Wet plaster or warped flooring can be evidence of a leak, whether originating from inside or outside. If everyone is proactive and reports promptly to our Resident Manager, Daniel Djeljaj, in person in his Basement Office, rm300west23rdstreet@outlook.com, or 212-243-3030, it would greatly help to avoid unnecessary damage within your unit, your neighbors' unit, and to the building as well.

Got Electricity?

Even though many apartments over the past 40 years have been renovated, many in the building have not and still have the original 1931 design including the electrical wiring and outlets. Just like old plumbing pipes, electrical wiring and outlets will deteriorate and potentially cause damage to your apartment, neighboring apartments, and the building. Your Board, DEPM, and Daniel Djeljaj recommend to you, as a minimum, to make sure outlets are grounded (as they were not previously 90+ years ago) and that outlets in Kitchens and Bathrooms have GFCI (ground fault circuit interrupter) outlets since they are in the vicinity of water and are also required by Electrical Code. A GFCI is a special type of outlet that detects dangerous ground faults and immediately turns off the power to stop shocks, potential electrical sparks, and/or electrical fires. You can replace almost any electrical outlet with a GFCI outlet. Correctly wired GFCI's will also protect other outlets on the same circuit. If you have questions or need further information, please reach out to our Resident Manager, Daniel Djeljaj.
